

Hi, I'm Marlie, I am a 17-year-old student from Newquay, Cornwall. I am currently studying A levels in history, politics and music. Last year I did my Drama and Music GCSEs and I was in my school's production of Chicago. I am auditioning for the musical Matilda which will be in stage in October 2026. Music is my passion, since I was very young, I was learning the violin and later the piano. I now focus on my singing mainly. Music helps me feel grounded and to be myself.

At the moment I am working at a local climbing centre part time, and I am working with a variety of different customers of different ages and backgrounds. Here I am confident talking to new people and being in environments which are new to me, I am very confident in public speaking and eager to learn new things.

During the summer I would like to participate in the Sommerakademie as an intern to gain new skills and to help organising the summer programme. Skills I would bring into the role as intern - and which I hope would benefit the programme - are my organisation and time management skills, my open-mindedness and friendliness, making each person feel valued and my English and German language skills (and I hope to improve my German native skills a bit more).
